WELCOME TO WATERLOO ICE HOUSE

The first Waterloo Ice House opened its doors on Congress Avenue in 1976, as a casual neighborhood gathering spot serving hot, handmade meals and ice cold beer for an eclectic mix of Austin business people, students, artists and musicians. On weekend nights, the dining room came alive with the best of Austin's early live music scene featuring such greats as Uncle Walt's Band and Lyle Lovett.

Not much has changed since our opening 30 years ago. Waterloo Ice House still embodies that Hill Country spirit of gathering with friends and family for a cold beer and spending time together eating, laughing, and talking.

WATERLOO ICE HOUSE - AN AUSTIN TRADITION SINCE 1976.
